Response to Protestor's Arguments

The examiner has reviewed the Protest, filed on April 4, 2002 as paper #2, that has been submitted under Rule 291(a) in the instant application.

The Protest has presented the British Patent No. 160,098 ('098) as anticipating the Applicant's claim numbers of 1, 3 & 8. The Applicant has cancelled these claims and thus such arguments against allowing these claims is moot.

The Protest states that claims 2 and 32 are unpatentable over the prior art of the British Patent '098 and Son (U.S. Patent 2,472,028). The prior art of the British Patent '098 and Son do not teach or disclose of a structure which is specifically for supporting baby bottles as recited in the Applicant's claim language; nor does it include a tray which provides pegs for storing an article in such a manner that no standing water may collect at a point where the peg is mounted. Hence, claims 2 and 32 are allowable over the prior art and accordingly, claims 33 and 34, which depend from claim 32, either directly or indirectly, are also deemed to be allowable.

The Protest further states that claims 4 and 18 are unpatentable over the British Patent '098 and Son. However, the prior art does not teach or disclose of a tray which includes pegs for storing articles which include a means for providing movement to the pegs whereby the entire peg can be positioned adjacent to the upper face of the tray for the purposes of storage. Hence, claims 4 and 18 are deemed to be allowable over the prior art of record. Furthermore, claims 5-7 which depend from claim 4, either directly or indirectly, and claim 21 which depends from claim 18 are also considered to be patentable over the prior art of record.

Additionally, the Protest states that claims 9 and 11 are unpatentable over the British Patent '098 and Son further in view of Kassanchuk (U.S. Patent No. 4,238,035), Chang (U.S. Patent No. 5,492,237) or the Swiss Patent 682,919 ('919). Since the British Patent '098 and Son do not teach or disclose of a tray which comprises pegs for storing articles, or pegs which include a means for lateral movement, and further the additional teachings of Kassanchuk and Chang or the Swiss Patent '919 do not disclose the feature of a disk holding means which will isolate the disks from areas in the tray which may collect water, claims 9 and 11 are considered to be patentable over the prior art of record. Accordingly, claim 10 which depends from claim 9 and claims 12-17 which depend from claim 11, either directly or indirectly, are also deemed to be allowable.

The Protest also states the claim 19 is unpatentable over the Swiss Patent '919. However, the Swiss Patent '919 does not teach or disclose of a means for holding baby bottles disks in a location that is isolated from areas of the tray which may hold water. Therefore, claim 19 and claim 20, which depend from claim 19, are deemed to be allowable over the prior art of the Swiss Patent '919.

Further, the Protest states that claim 22 is unpatentable over the Swiss Patent '919 in view of Son; however, this prior art does not teach or disclose of a tray apparatus comprising pegs for supporting baby bottles or a means for the lateral movement of pegs on the tray and further there is no teaching of the feature of the pegs to be positioned adjacent the upper face of the tray for storage purposes nor is there any teaching for a frictional means for retaining pegs in an operative position.

Therefore, since claim 22 is deemed to be allowable over the Swiss Patent '919 and further in view of Son, dependent claims 23-31 which depend from claim 22, either directly or indirectly, are also deemed to be allowable.

Additionally, the Protest states that claims 35 and 46 are rejectable over the prior art of the Swiss Patent '919, Safety 1st and Mommy's Helper publications and further in view of Son. None of the aforementioned prior art teaches or discloses the method step for moving a plurality of ring support members or peg members of a bottle rack from a first storage position to a second operative position; nor does the aforementioned prior art teach or disclose of a baby bottle or a baby bottle ring being positioned a bottle rack such that each item will not be exposed to any water that may collect on the upper surface of the rack where the items to be dried are stored. Hence, claims 35 and 46 and the claims 36-45 and 47-19, which depend from these claims either directly or indirectly, are deemed to be allowable.

Drawings

The drawing corrections that were received on February 6, 2003 have been disapproved since the figure is not labeled "amended". The changes made to the drawings themselves would be approved if the figure were labeled properly.

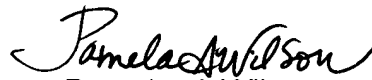

Supplemental Oath/Declaration Required

The reissue oath/declaration filed with this application is defective because of the proposed drawing revisions submitted on February 6, 2003. A supplemental oath/declaration is required which will cover all corrections which transpire after the filing of the original reissue oath/declaration.
